

MAKING HISTORY: Randy Durr announces Aubree Kruger (9) being the first freshman to win the annual Simon Says. Kruger says "I was more focused on winning than anything." Photo - C. Yule

JUMPIN' FOR JOY: Taylor Pierce (12) celebrates when the seniors are announced as the spirit stick winners. Pierce said, "It was a bittersweet moment considering this is our last." Photo - C. Yule

SPIRIT: Parker Ruffing (10) shows his school spirit during the pep rally. Ruffing said, "The atmosphere felt a lot more energetic than last year." Photo - O. Page

YOUNGINS': Ethene Burns (9) and fellow classmates cheer on their Simon Says representative. Burns said "The pep rally was overall a blast." Photo - C. Yule

CHAOS: Sophomore attendants Jackson Richard (10) and Emma Hunt (10) pose on the track. Richards says, "it added a lot of confusion with band." Photo - S. Staley

KING THINGS: Jorey Anderson (12) pumps the seniors up. Anderson said, "It was cool winning senior year." Photo - C. Yule

GAL PALS: Part of the royalty poses for a picture. Student body president, Maren Cottrell (12) said, "Having homecoming planned out made the week move smoothly." Photo - S. Staley

SMILES: Isabel Accurso (9) smiles next to Brody Thiel (9). She said, "It was a great experience, especially since it was my first year of high school!" Photo - D. Salazar

'22 FOR THE WIN

Out With The Old, In With The New

Worland High School finally gets back to normal! The Warriors celebrate all throughout the week with dress up days, the parade, the pep assembly, and the football game. Another exciting part of the week is the tailgate Tuesday.

This year there were a lot of new activities added to homecoming week. A new tradition was started this year. The Student Council put on a Tailgate Tuesday where different restaurants in the community came together and ate together and had fun. Student body president Maren Cottrell (12) said, "I was so happy that the tailgate party worked out and that it could potentially start a homecoming tradition." Also, Student Council adviser Christy Vickers agreed with Cottrell and said, "I thought that the Tuesday tailgate brought the school and the community together." That was her favorite change that was made to homecoming week.

Homecoming week went by fast this year, but it was definitely one for the books. The Student Council worked hard to make things happen this year and to bring back the normal. Carly Venable (11) was a part of this group and she stated, "Hoco was super stressful this year since I was helping on both sides of things." A majority of the Student Council members helped set things up while they also worked on their classes skit and float.

Overall, this years Homecoming week was a success and brought everyone together.

ZOOMIN': Riley Blood (12) pushes Nicole Ramirez Lopez (12) in the scooter competition. Lopez exclaimed, "I was super scared and I thought I was going to fly off the scooter." Photo - C. Yule

STRIKE A POSE: Peyton Erlenbaugh (11) gets ready to perform the junior dance at the assembly. Erlenbaugh said, "It was fun doing it with my friends." Photo - C. Yule

Rule The School

BUTTERFLIES: Carly Venable (11) and Carter Clark (11) walk together. Venable exclaimed, "I was nervous at first, but then became excited." Photo - D. Salazar

CHEEZIN': Simon Dalebout (12) wins second attendant. Dalebout stated, "It made me feel honored to represent our senior class." Photo - D. Salazar

SURPRISE: First Attendants Ty Harris (12) and Maren Cottrell (12) smile for the camera. Harris says his favorite part was "not expecting that I won." Photo - D. Salazar

WHOO-WHOO: Jorey Anderson (12) and Olivia Dalebout (12) accept their crowns. Dalebout said, "It felt pretty surreal." Photo - D. Salazar